"Lord, we pray to you for guidance and strength with our Lenten sacrifice.
May it bring us closer to you. Amen."

Dear Parents, Staff and Students,

Vale Margaret Whitlam 1919 – 2012

Few students will know much about Margaret Whitlam or indeed about her husband or the early 1970s when they were so prominent. The black and white images of her that flashed across TV screens since her death on the weekend reminded many of us of a remarkable and influential woman who was an unfailing advocate for women, education, the arts, and the progress of Australian life for all.

She was a woman of extraordinary influence who, whilst never universally agreed with, was certainly admired. She came from that group of Australian women who had a notionally advantaged upbringing, a university education, became a wife and mother of four who raised her children whilst her husband was frequently away in Canberra.

She emerged in the 1970s as a clear common sense voice on the side of what she saw as social progress. She heralded an example of a thoroughly modern woman.

Margaret Whitlam's advocacy helped to make life easier for the woman of succeeding generations. This is a good thing. Her passing gives us a cause to pause and reflect upon a life well lived for her family, herself, and for others.

Margaret Whitlam, may her memory be blessed.

The Swimming Carnival 2012

It is always a fantastic day and this year was no exception. Certainly it has its serious swimming side and improved times and personal bests as part of the pool side experience, but the focus on participation, attendance, spirit, and support is what gives the even memorable atmosphere and colour!

Congratulations to Mr Nathan Wood and his team for the extraordinary organisation and to all the teachers who supported the event so well.

Congratulations also to the senior students who were encouraging of the younger ones, amazingly good humoured and cooperative, and who excelled at making the day such a success for all.

A particular mention of Isabella Campus Head Ms Sandra Darley's, should we say "swandive" towards the end of the day. She and teacher Michael Brennan jumped into the pool as promised after students raised over $1300 for Caritas, which was appreciated by all.

Relay for Life

Thank you to Mr Jon Chandra and many other staff who supervised Year 12 in the Relay for Life held again this year at the AIS. This 24-hour overnight experience helped to raise considerable amounts of money for the Australian Cancer Council by putting the accent on exercise and cooperation. It was good to see some of our Catholic primary schools participating and so many former students and parents.

Yours in St Mary MacKillop,

Mr Michael Lee, College Principal

NAPLAN

NAPLAN: 15 - 17 May

In 2012 the National Assessment Program for Literacy and Numeracy (NAPLAN) testing will be held from 15th-17th May. For all schools in the ACT these dates correspond with Tuesday-Thursday of Week 13. NAPLAN testing is the annual national assessment for students in Years 3, 5, 7, and 9.

The data obtained from NAPLAN testing is utilised by our school to enrich our teaching and learning for the benefit of all students in our community. The more students we have participating in NAPLAN testing the greater the benefit for our College when implementing the available data in our teaching and learning programs.

If your son or daughter has special needs, or requires special provisions during their classroom learning, special provisions will be provided to reflect the support he or she would usually receive in the classroom. If you have any concerns regarding the support provided, please contact the Faculty Co-ordinator for Inclusive Education, Mrs Lenore Moore, or the College NAPLAN Co-ordinator.

If you wish to withdraw your son or daughter from all aspects of NAPLAN testing, you may do so; signed parent/carer consent forms are required and are available from the College NAPLAN Co-ordinator.

Students in Years 7 and 9 will receive a NAPLAN 2012 Information for Parents brochure through their Pastoral Care class in the coming week. Alternatively it is available at http://www.det.act.gov.au/__data/assets/pdf_file/0008/284858/NAPLAN_2012_Parents_Brochure.pdf. This brochure contains information pertaining to the NAPLAN testing and procedures. For more information about NAPLAN and NAPLAN testing please do not hesitate to visit any of the internet links provided below, or contact our College NAPLAN Co-ordinator.

Careers Info

Careers Information

As part of the college's careers program information is sent via GroupWise email to students for their consideration and action. Information is also placed in the student daily messages regarding careers events that are occurring. In addition, some information will be placed in this newsletter.

Over the past few weeks I have received the 2013 Undergraduate guides for the Australian Catholic University, Charles Sturt University, the University of New South Wales, the University of Melbourne and La Trobe University. Unfortunately the college only receives one copy however I am more than happy for students to borrow and return the guides once they have finished with them.

Charles Sturt University and the Australian Catholic University have sent through their 2012 Course cut offs and students can view these by visiting the Careers Office.

University of Melbourne

Students wishing to undertake and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine/Veterinary Science now need to enter through either the Bachelor of Science at the University of Melbourne or a science degree from another institution. The ATAR cut off for the Bachelor of Science in 2011 was 85.5.

An open day will be held on the 25 March at the university of Melbourne Veterinary Hospital at 250 Princes Hwy, Werribee. For further information visit www.vet.unimelb.edu.au/openday

School Funding

MySchool Data

Please see the attached letter from the National Catholic Education Commission regarding funding for Catholic Schools. The NCEC aims to inform parents about the need for greater investment in Catholic school education.

Latest school data heightens need for greater investment in school education

On the 24th of February the latest round of school funding data was published on the government's My School website.

The ACARA My School data identifies the amount of money each school in Australia received in 2010 for their day-to-day operations from all sources—Commonwealth and state governments and parent contributions—and provides an insight into the relative resources of all schools.

According to the data, government schools operate on average at around $11,520 per student and Catholic schools with around $10,340 per student.

Simply put, even when parent contributions are taken into account, Catholic schools receive on average around 10% less money for their day-to-day operations than government schools.

This means that Catholic schools continue to be the least resourced of all Australian schools.

While Catholic schools continue to deliver high quality education, doing 'more with less' is not sustainable into the future.

The recently released Gonski Report on Funding for Schooling identified that if Australia is to keep up with world standards then government investment in school education needs to increase by $5 billion per annum.

The Catholic education sector has strongly backed the call for more investment in education and the latest My School data strengthens the need for this to happen sooner rather than later.

On behalf of all our Catholic schools, the National Catholic Education Commission (NCEC) will be continuing efforts in the coming months to work with all governments to promote the urgent need for more funding for schools.

Only with additional investment by governments, will all school sectors be able to continue to deliver quality education for all Australian students.

To keep up to date with NCEC activities please visit www.fundinginfo.catholic.edu.au.
